

I am writing in support of the license transfer for Rainbow-1 from the Voom division of Cablevision to Echostar Communications. I do not believe this change will significantly impact competition in the market for TV services. On the contrary, I think it will allow Echostar to stay competitive with the HDTV services already offered or planned by Direct TV and Cable TV companies. It will also allow them to stay competitive at a price that will help to hold down the costs they must pass along to their consumers. Please approve this transfer.
